

Buffalo Audubon Legacy Society Members:

Compassionate. Visionary. Impactful.

Legacy gifts take many forms. You can leave your legacy through your will or other estate planning tools, with guidance from your attorney or financial planner.

Bequests, gifts that designate a dollar amount or portion of an estate, are by far the most common type of legacy gift, but there are other easy ways you can give. These include life insurance or unused retirement assets.

You decide how your legacy gift is used, for day-to-day operating expenses, or directed toward whatever it is at Buffalo Audubon Society or Beaver Meadow Nature Center that is meaningful to you.

And because legacy gifts are often larger than what most donors can give in their lifetime, you will make a truly significant impact.

To learn more about legacy giving or for bequest wording, contact Lynn Westcott:

✉ lynn@buffaloaudubon.org

☎ 716.440.4251